A yearbook is a memory book, something bought to preserve in some small measure a time that was. It is in a material sense just a collection of paper, ink, chemicals and dyes. Add to this the human element and it is shaped into a form which transcends the importance of the book's physical contents.

This book is a record for a special group of people be it students, faculty or administration of Elmhurst College. Created by a handful of students, this records the life that was. Hopefully it will bring back memories of the passions and emotions of life at E.C. in 1977-78. This book then is dedicated to you the students and staff of Elmhurst College.

ELMHURST COLLEGE

CAMPUS LIFE

ELMHURST COLLEGE IS ...

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING!

E.C. is a learning experience. But there are many other activities going on outside of the student's usual curricular schedule. "Like what?" you say. Think about it. Look through these pages. Here is campus life as we see it. How do you see it?

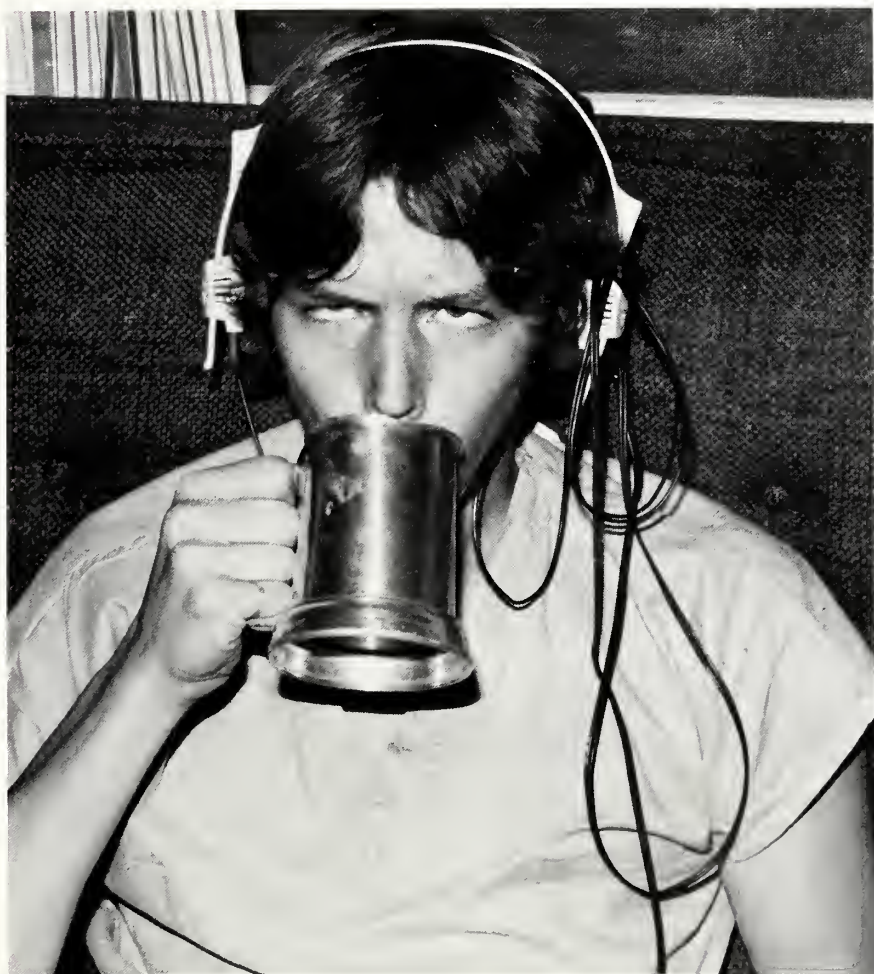

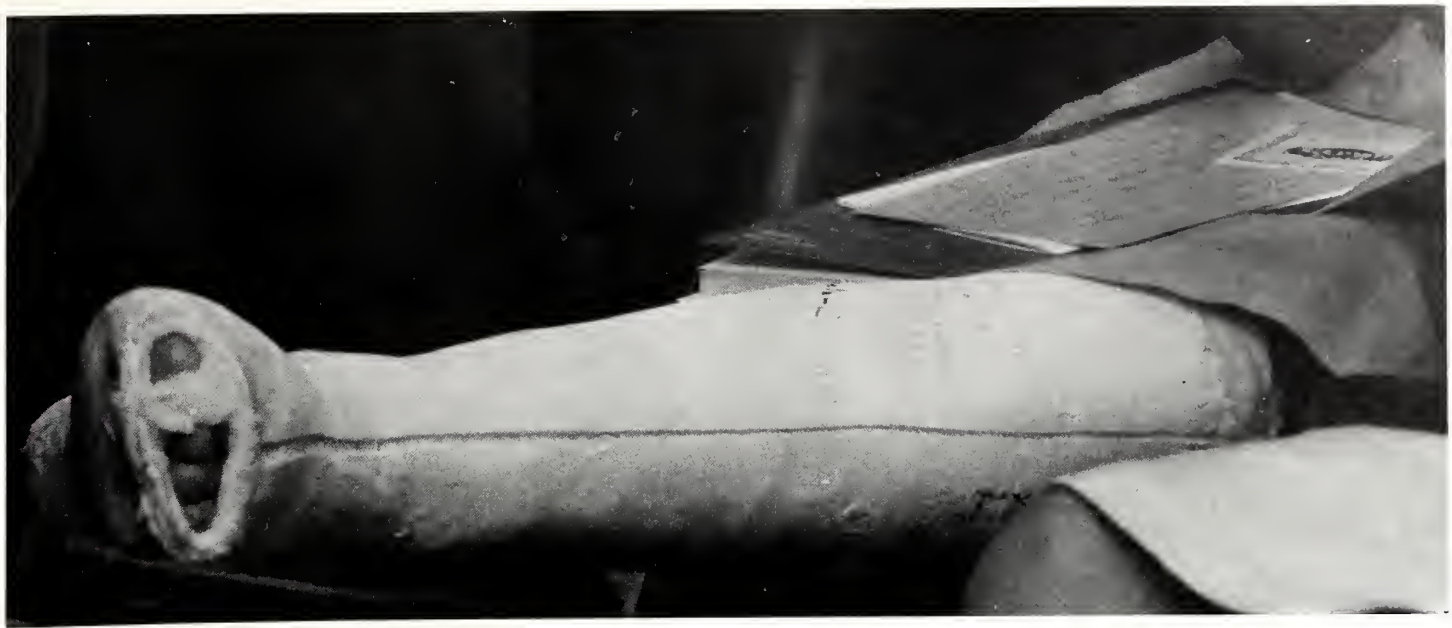

The life on campus is what you make it. Be yourself, conform with others or do both. E.C. can be exciting. Go ahead . . . who said you couldn't get high on life? Sit on some picnic tables, take a walk, eat, sleep or whatever!

FACES AND PLACES

EVENTS

Welcome To New Student Orientation

Freshman orientation was a successful endeavor again this year. Fun and learning experiences were mixed to welcome the freshmen.

An egg toss, relays, seminars, a dance and a tug-of-war over a mud hole were just a few of the activities planned for the freshmen. Most of the upperclassmen participating in the orientation program had just as much fun (or more!) as the freshmen.

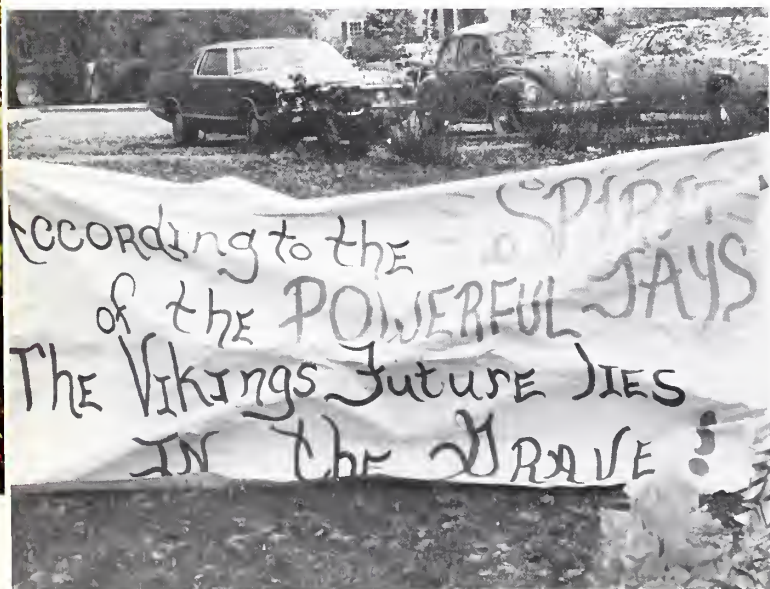

HOMECOMING

Homecoming was something very different this year. We had the Casino Night instead of a concert. With a crowd of several hundred people, a band, some standup comics, as well as a wide assortment of gaming tables, Casino Night had a combination that spelled success.

Saturday was no less exciting as we romped over North Park's Vikings 36-6, a sight most heartening to fans of old E.C. The beautiful, sunny weather and a Bluejay Victory, thanks to Coach Tom Beck and our football squad, set the mood for the dinner dance at Stouffer's in Oakbrook. The dance as it turned out was a nice way to end an excellent day.

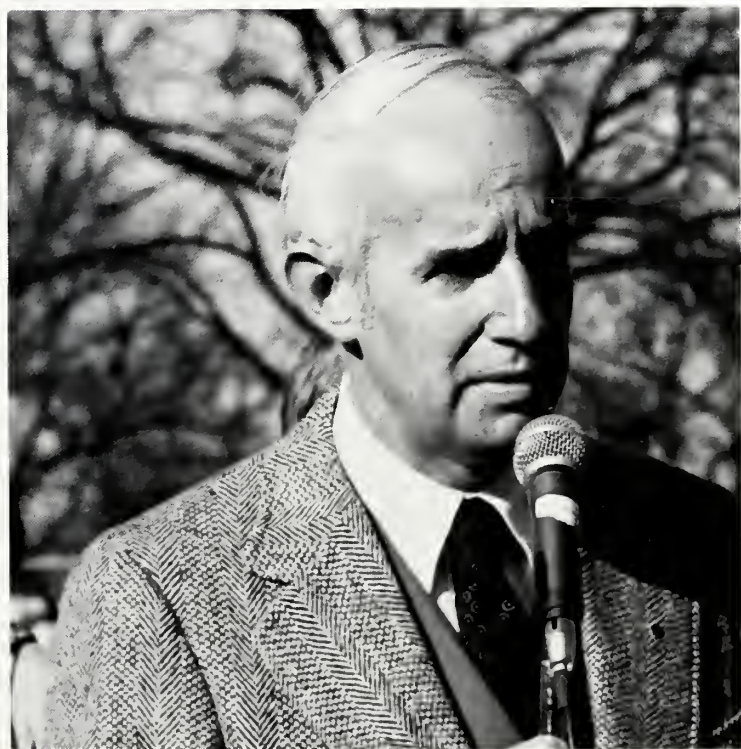

But there was more to Homecoming than the fact that we had a good day in football or that there was a big turnout for Casino Night or for the dinner dance. The real significance lies in the rekindling of SPIRIT here at Elmhurst. People are starting to cheer again, there are both female AND male cheerleaders, people are holding pep rallies, and all kinds of neat things are happening. Because along with the spirit comes pride. Pride in our institutions and ourselves. And pride plus spirit can move us to do great things. So look at the pride and spirit in these pictures and think of what we can do in the future.

PART OF THE 1977 HOMECOMING COURT

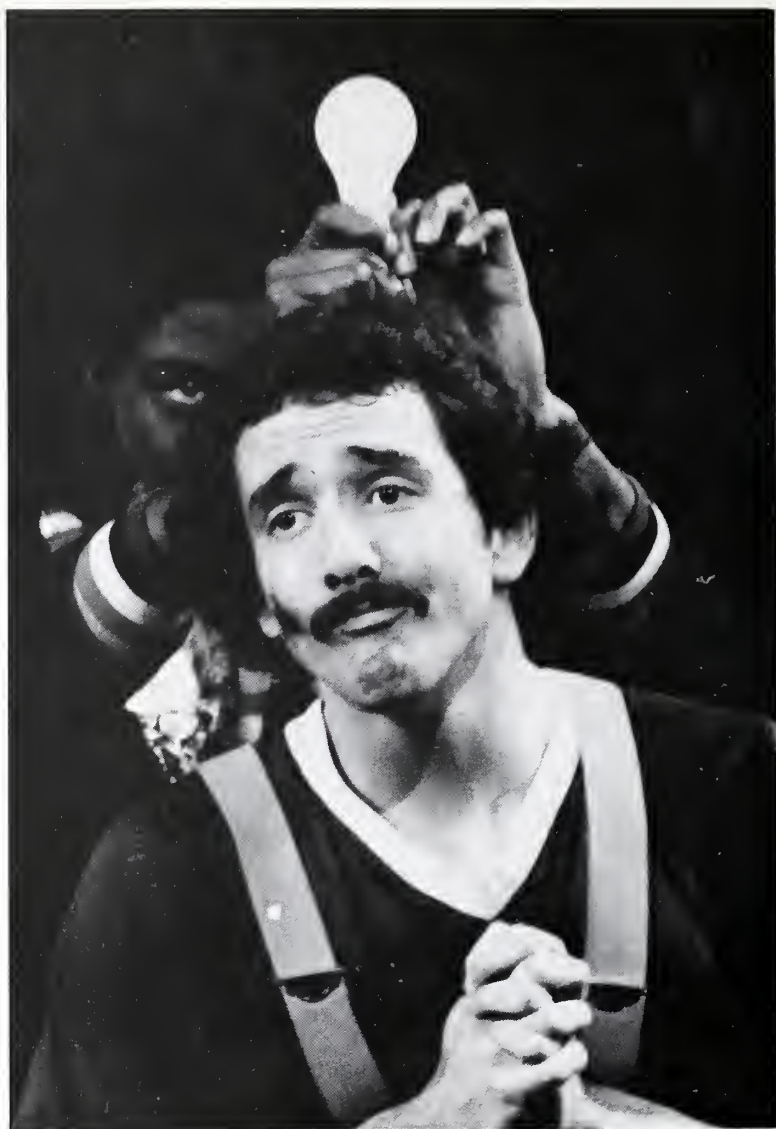

GODSPELL

Under the direction of Alan W. Weiger, the Elmhurst College Theatre broke box office records at the Mill Theatre with productions of GODSPELL (October 27, 28, 29, November 3, 4, and 5) and THE LION IN WINTER (March 10, 11, 17, and 18). Technical and managerial assistants for the two productions included Shelia Fassl, Kathi Hall, Evanne Marconi, Kirk Miller, and BethAnn Weber. Both GODSPELL and LION IN WINTER were staged in "three-quarter thrust" which encouraged an intimate rapport between actors and audience.

Originally, five performances of GODSPELL were scheduled. Demand for tickets required an additional performance. Based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew, the musical played to "standing room only" audiences. The singing-dancing-acting cast included Debra Baily, John Beyers, Dave Brisbin, Mel Chaney, Rick Dane, Susan Dillesshaw, Bonnie Hatmaker, Melody Lewis, John Lundquist, and Francine Lynch. Choreographed by Laura Riani Weiger, the cast was supported by on-stage musicians Tony Camardo, Jay Howard, Scott Madden, John Marella, Perry Mascetti, Larry Mikeska, George Shutack, Gordon Toudt, and Rick Turner. Additional music was arranged by Dave Brisbin and George Shutak.

THE LION IN WINTER

THE LION IN WINTER, based on historic fact, amusingly developed the conflict between King Henry II of England (played by Jeff Crossland) and his wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine (Julie White) about which of their sons would inherit the throne—Richard (John Leding), Geoffrey (Marty Blank), or John (Mike Poznanovich). Complicating the plot were King Philip of France (Christopher Mayer) and his sister, Alias (Lynda Caldwell). Two of the four performances of THE LION IN WINTER were sold out.

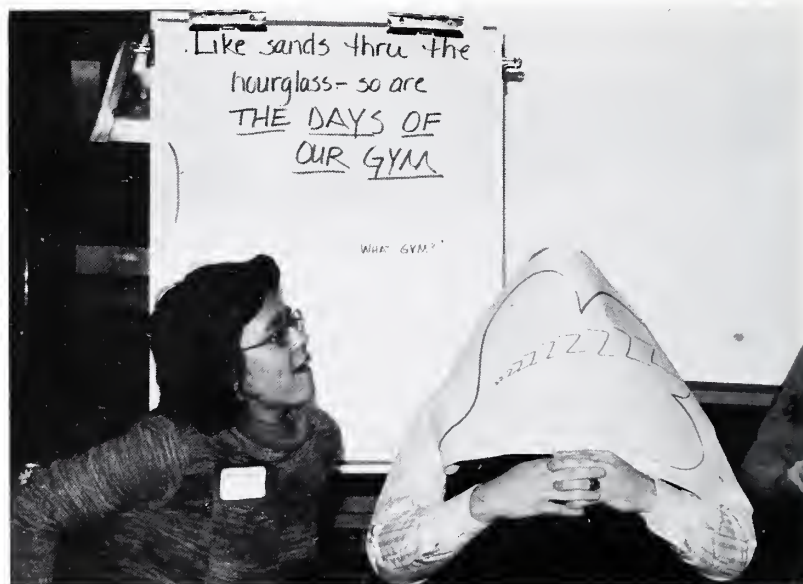

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

For the second consecutive year, student leaders met in a mid-winter workshop sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, Campus Life Council, the College Union Board, and the Dean of Students Office to discuss the quality of life on campus, develop leadership techniques, and to get to know one another better.

DANCE MARATHON

Among other things happening on campus this year we had the First Annual Dance Marathon for Muscular Dystrophy. The event was organized by Fred Fotis, Tom Walsh, Debbie Faber and Kim Vack, with awards and refreshments being donated by Miller Brewing, Union Board, Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Phi Alpha, Niebuhr Hall, and Inga's "deli." Music was provided by the disc jockeys of WRSE using the Union Board Sound system, and by the band Risk on Saturday night.

The thirty hour happening pulled in six thousand and thirty five dollars in pledges. That figure was reached mainly through the perseverance of the dancers, shown by the fact that twenty two of twenty eight couples finished. The first two couples in terms of collecting pledges were Tom Lynch and Lynda Grigic and Craig Spoko and Betty van Eynde. It is hoped that next year ten thousand dollars can be raised, and if participation is anything like this year that amount should be no problem.

JAZZ FESTIVAL

What can one say about Jazz Festival 1978? It was big, fast paced, and exciting, that's what. Judged by Dan Morgenstern, and Kai Winding, this year's festival proved to be a big success.

Friday afternoon, all of Saturday, and Sunday afternoon were set aside for festival performance sessions, Sunday morning being reserved for the festival worship service. On Sunday evening, those bands, combos, and vocalists which had been awarded "outstanding" status performed. Also awards were handed out. Then came the last of the evening's highlights as Kai Winding and Don Menza performed with E.C.'s own Jazz Band. All in all a very fine weekend and a job well done by Bob Skallerup and his dedicated crew.

GRADUATION

BACCALAUREATE

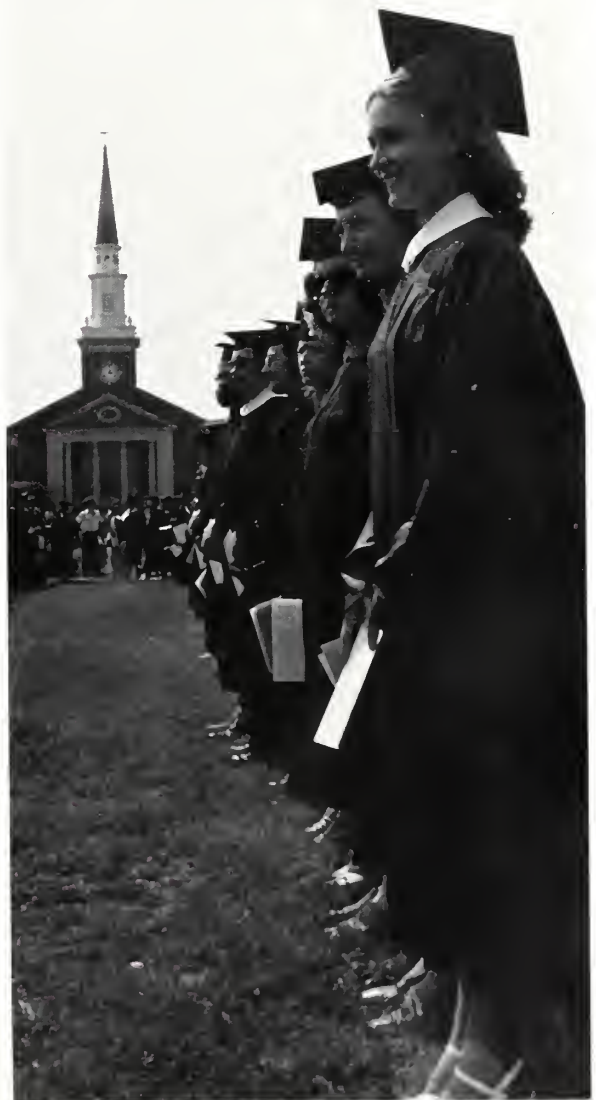

Graduation 1978 occurred on a very nice warm spring day. It was a special day for the seniors who had finally finished and awaited their diplomas in the warm May sun.

The highlights of the day were the speeches given by Dr. Rudolph Schade and Mr. Bill Kurtis. Dr. Schade reminded the graduating students that the day was not just an end but also a beginning, just as his second retirement from teaching. Bill Kurtis reminded the audience that there is still much to be done to improve the world in which we live and that there are still adventures to be lived out in the world today. On this note then diplomas were awarded and 1978's graduates started their new beginning.

HOCKEY CLUB

This year has been the best yet as far as Coach Bob Mosser is concerned. It has indeed been the best year that the Elmhurst Hockey Club has ever had.

Playing in the Northern Illinois Collegiate Hockey Association the players ended their season with a 20-7-1 overall record. They also finished 2nd in the North division for a 2nd straight year. Captains Larry Latas and Bob Myjak, also with Billy Abromitis, Odi Scoubeck, Jim Myjak, Bob Rasche, Dave Koludrovic, Greg Kerr, George Klasen and Rick Williams made up half of the league all star team.

Williams incidently was the leagues leading goal tender. Since almost the whole team should be returning next year should bring even more excitement as the Elmhurst Hockey Club seeks the Division Championship which has eluded them thus far.

ELMHURST COLLEGE CHOIR

The college was well represented again this year by the Elmhurst College Choir directed by Paul Westermeyer. Throughout the school year they had many scheduled concerts plus their annual Fall and Spring tours. Fall tour consisted of a weekend in St. Louis. The ten-day Spring tour to Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana was an experience for all who participated. Also this year the choir took on a more "formal look"—the gentlemen wearing tuxedo's and the ladies wearing gowns.

THE WORKING WOMEN AT ELMHURST COLLEGE

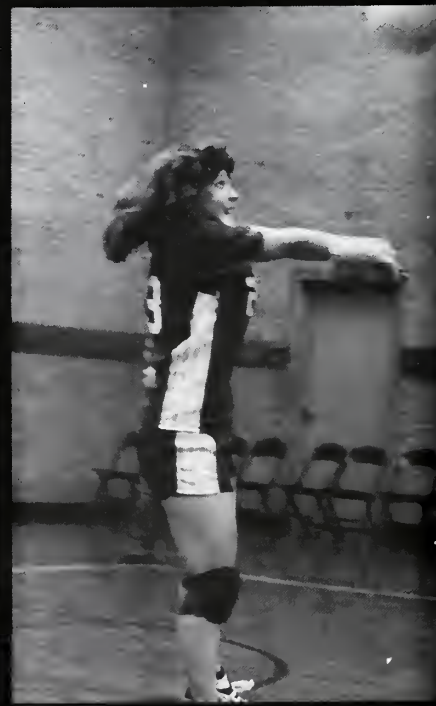

Who are these people? These ladies are seen at various points of your college career at Elmhurst. The yearbook staff would like to acknowledge the many women who work to try to make college life easier (although sometimes you may think otherwise)!

THANK-YOU LADIES!

ATHLETICS

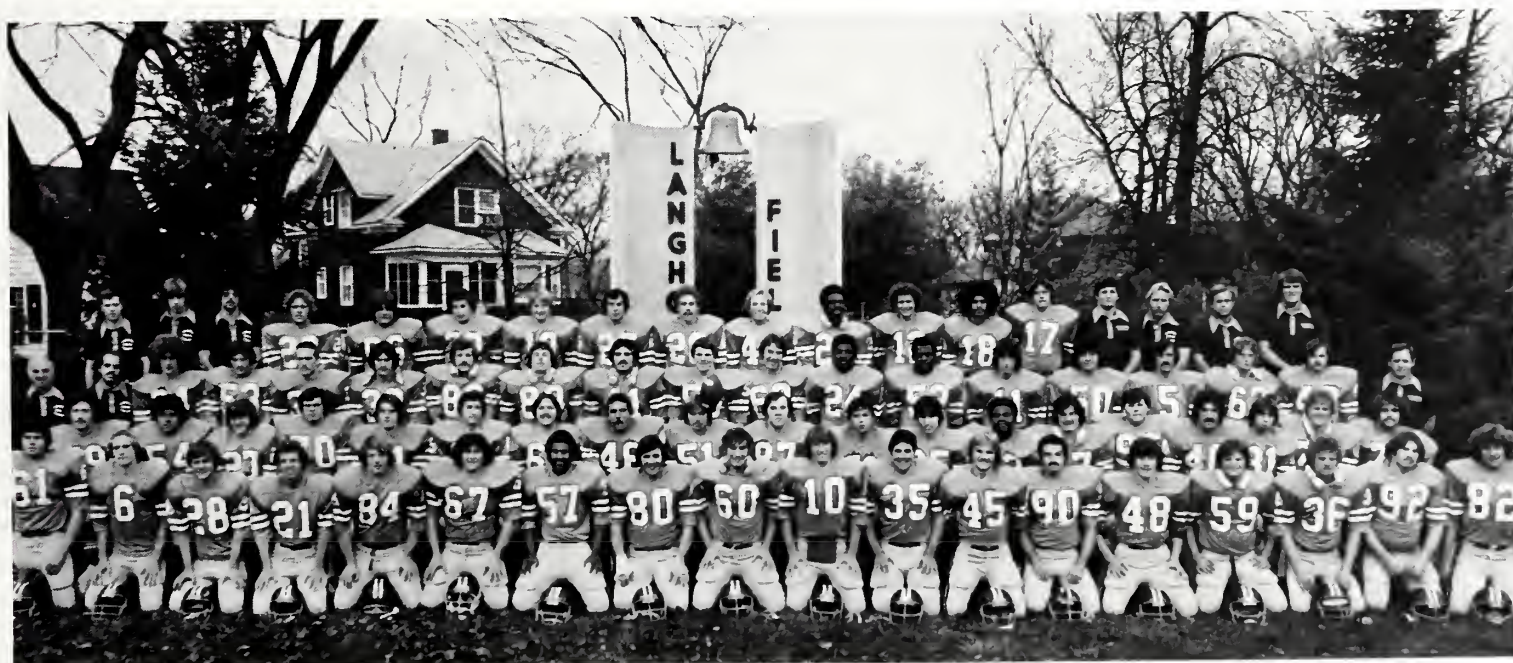

FOOTBALL

Behind the leadership and talent of three outstanding seniors, the 1977 football team ended its season with an impressive 5-4 record after losing its first three games. The season held many highlights for the Bluejays, as they provided only the sixth winning football season for E.C. in the last twenty-two years.

Elmhurst's top three senior players—John Gatziolas, Tom Gaucius and Earl Wilcek—were all named to the NAIA District #20 All-Star team, as well as being nominated to the S.I.D. All-State team, along with junior Roy Casali. Earl Wilcek was the only Elmhurst player to be named to the C.C.I.W. All-Conference team, although John Gatziolas, Tom Gaucius and Rick Green were among those specially mentioned.

Wilcek was also chosen as the defensive player of the year in the C.C.I.W., as well as the team's most valuable player on defense. Gaucius was chosen as the most valuable offensive player.

The Cross Country team this year, some might say, was in sad shape. But actually the team didn't do too badly considering One-half the squad was made up of "first-timers" and many times foot injuries and problems intered with our lineup. The main concern of our team this season was to run basically to improve ourselves as individuals. And that is what we did. With a little effort and some good recruiting we will be running better next season.

The team record of 3-10 may not show it but the women's softball team has improved since last year. Their hitting, fielding and base running have all improved and the team should be at least as strong as most of the squad is returning. What these dedicated players need is some people rooting for them. So come on out next year and help them win more games.

FACULTY

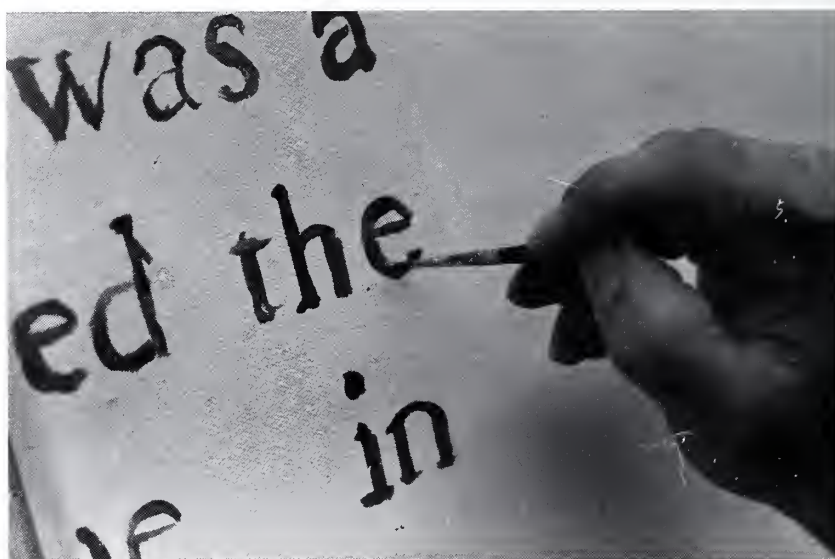

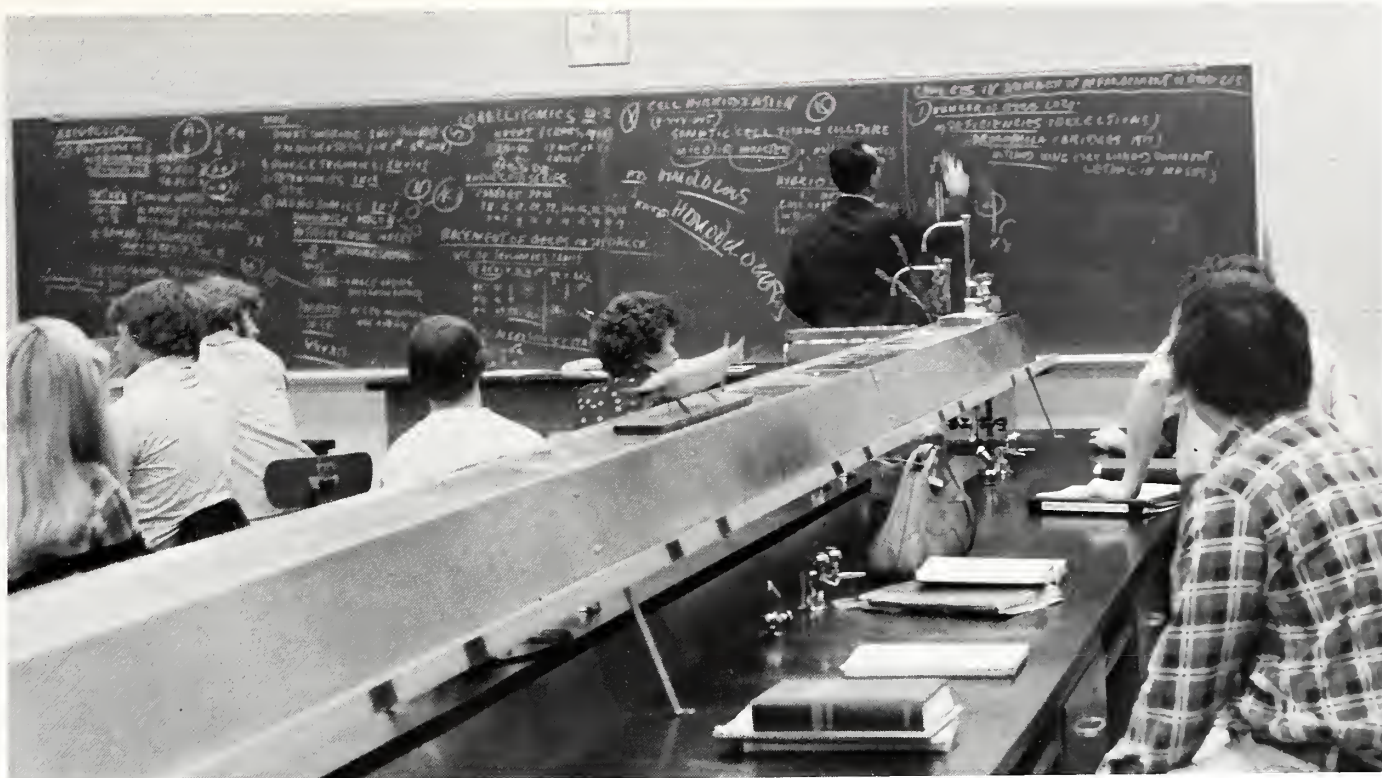

ART

The Art Department staff and students are delighted to be back in their own newly remodelled studios in Old Main. The new Sculpture Studio is located in the basement and is fully equipped for modelling and casting, welding, woodworking and assemblage. There is a drill press, band saw, radial arm saw, belt and disc sanders, etc., and the small tools are on the pneumatic power system for lightness, ease of handling, versatility and safety. The Graphics Studio is also in the basement and students can enjoy the spacious work areas with ease of movement from one process of printing to another. The Photography Studio, on the third floor, contains eight new enlargers and three film unloading rooms to accommodate students without crowding, and also has fully equipped new sinks for developing film and paper. The Painting and Drawing Studios are bright and spacious with track lighting for dramatic illumination of models and still life, and the art history and critique rooms are comfortable, attractive and equipped with audio-visual media. All in all the new Art Department facilities make both teaching and learning art a renewed pleasure at Elmhurst College.

BIOLOGY

CENTER FOR BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

The Center for Business and Economics seeks to assist students in achieving their goal of career preparation within the context of a liberal education. The Center emphasizes adaptive analytical, communicative and interpersonal competencies and encourages a broad perspective which comes through contact with a wide variety of disciplines.

CHEMISTRY

Chemistry, the science of the metamorphoses of matter, is important in the intellectual lives of many students seeking a liberal education. Chemistry at Elmhurst College offers to both day and evening students the training of professional chemists. The education of chemistry students at both introductory and advanced levels is intended to reflect the relationship of chemistry with other disciplines and to be responsive to the impact of chemical science on society. Students majoring in chemistry have a wide variety of options to proceed into a diverse range of professional activities. Many careers in the chemical industry, government and other areas are open to graduates with a good background in chemistry combined with computer science (for chemical information and retrieval system); law (for patent work); Business Administration (for sales, purchasing, management, marketing, and market research); systems engineering (for work in pollution control, urbanism and ecology) and history, literature, and philosophy (for literature research and technical editing).

Dr. Losey, Dr. Glogorsky, chairperson, Dr. Ophardt, Dr. Ganchoff.

EDUCATION

Offering a full range of courses, the Department of Education provides an adequate base of ideas, understanding, and skills needed by the beginning teacher, with some advanced courses also for the post graduate teacher. Basic programs are provided for the preparation of elementary school teachers and for junior high and high school teachers. Elmhurst College teacher preparation programs are accredited by the Illinois State Teacher Certification Board and by The National Commission on Accreditation of Teacher Education. The department will feel the loss of Dr. Ervin Schmidt, current chairperson, whom is retiring at the end of the 1978 school year.

ENGLISH

The resources of the Department of English can be important to every student in the College. All of us read, and read many different kinds of things—textbooks, essays, novels, and poems. All of us write, and write for many different purposes—to provide information, to persuade others, to reveal our private visions of the world and of ourselves. The Department can point students toward successful reading and writing. It offers them an opportunity to encounter writers, and readers, who can serve as touchstones who have turned to processes of reading and writing into literature.

Dr. Bidle

Ms. Swords, Dr. Caso, Ms. Ekens, Mr. Davidson, Dr. Swords chairperson, Dr. Barclay, Ms. Clark, Dr. Bidle.

The Department of Speech Communication offers four majors. A student may major in Speech Communication, in Theatre, in Speech Education, or in Speech Pathology. Most of the departmental courses offerings may be taken by both majors or non-majors; some of the courses meet part of the language and thought requirements; some of them meet the fine arts requirement.

As a supplement to the curriculum in Speech Communication, the Department offers co-curricular or extra-curricular programs. One way in which the curriculum is supplemented is through the Speech Practicum program (Radio Practicum or Theatre Practicum Study). Through these one-quarter courses, the student either as a major or a non-major gains practical experience and insight into radio, theatre, or speech therapy. Another way in which the curriculum is supplemented is through non-classroom activities, which include theatre productions, WRSE-FM (the College radio station), and speech pathology students provide therapy for children and adults, supervised by the Speech Clinic staff. Additional non-classroom activities participated in by students are diagnostic evaluation, screening tests of speech and hearing, conferences with parents, and writing of reports. The Speech Clinic was established in 1946 to serve both as a training center for Elmhurst College students majoring in speech and language pathology and as a community service for the diagnosis and treatment of speech and language disorders. Therapy is usually conducted by students, supervised by staff members having the Certificate of Clinical Competence issued by the American Speech and Hearing Association. The Clinic has recently added a program to Activate Communication Through Theraplay (ACTT).

GEOGRAPHY AND ENVIRONMENTAL PLANNING

The staff of the Department of Geography and Environmental Planning strives to allow students to gain a better understanding of the interaction between man and his physical environment. This relationship is a very dynamic one and students in the department study a variety of subjects such as food production systems, environmental and transportation management, physical landforms, climate remote sensing, and planning for rural and urban needs. In-class study, field trips, and internships offer students a variety of learning environments to better prepare them for careers in this field.

Mr. Blum, Dr. Schade, Dr. Burdick, chairperson, not shown Dr. Cunningham.

HISTORY

Striving to meet the changing needs and interests of students and their environment, the Department of History challenges and alters both the nature and the emphasis of History course offerings. Dr. Wally Brudick Jr., chairperson comments, "We are committed to keeping the study of History an exciting and relevant facet of a person's education. History has always been an essential part of the education of the truly educated person and our goal continues to be one of providing understanding to the person seeking to comprehend the nature and origins of his world."

The Geography Department was glad to have Dr. Bohnert return full-time on their staff.

MATHEMATICS

Offering a strong major in mathematics, the Department of Mathematics prepares students for careers in teaching or industry, or for graduate work. The department recently instituted a computer component to the course offering so that students could obtain a background in computer science. Dr. Mason, chairperson commented, "There is a substantial demand for mathematics graduates in all of the mathematics fields which the college offers." Co-operating with the Department of Education, the Department of Mathematics provides courses for prospective teachers in the field of mathematics. The Department of Mathematics also cooperates with the Department of Business Administration in offering a joint program for students who are interested in the application of mathematics to business administration and marketing.

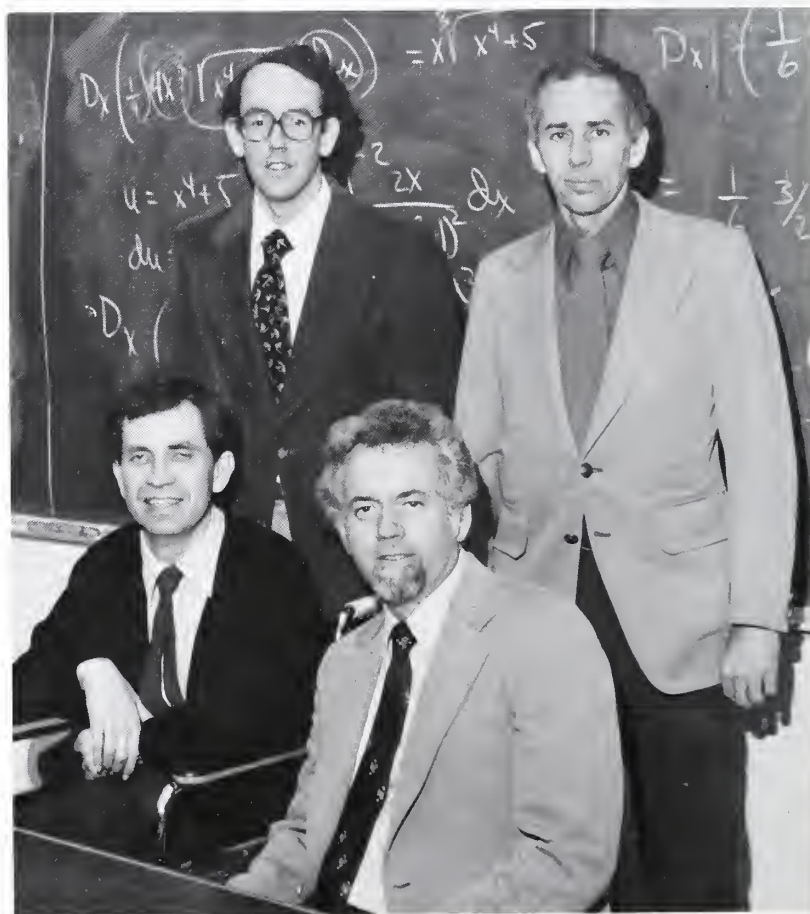

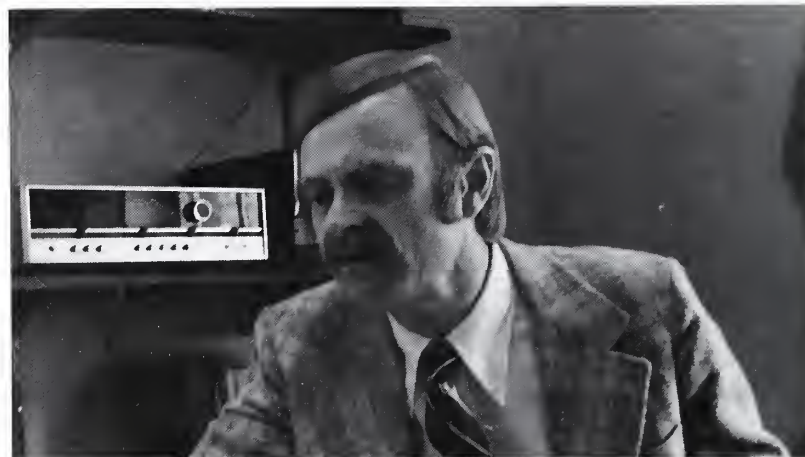

MUSIC

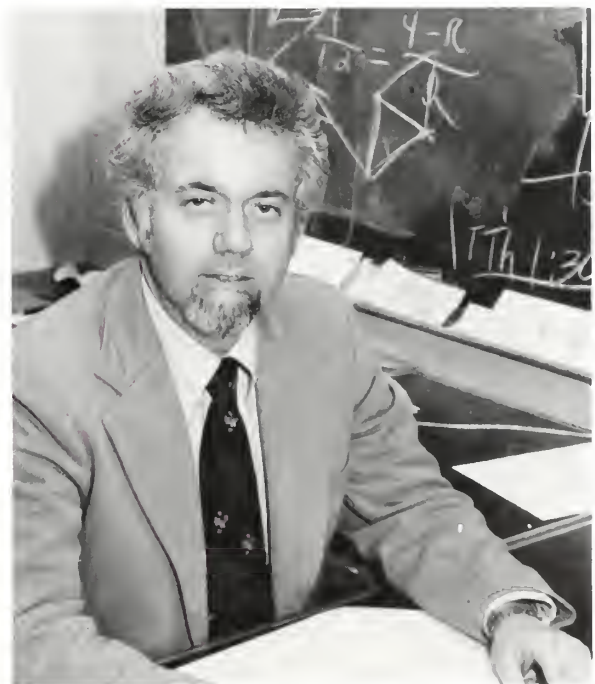

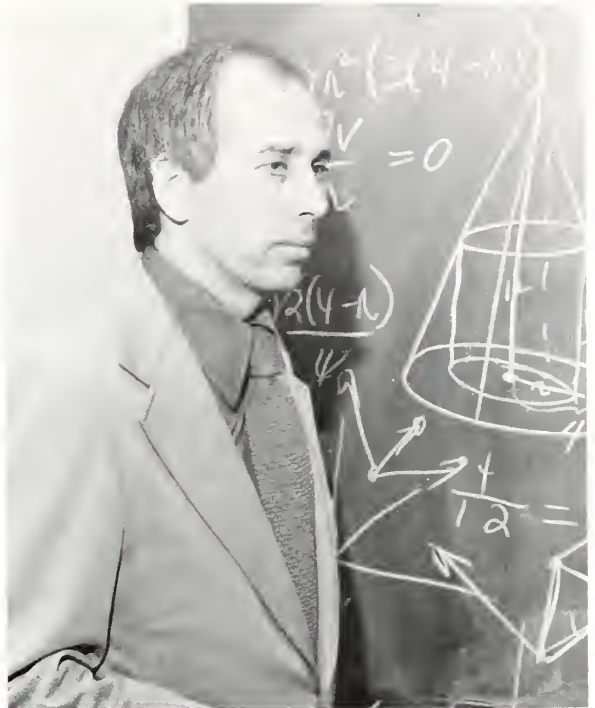

Developing professional musicians in music education, music business, church music, music therapy and piano pedagogy, and preparing students for graduate study leading to college teaching, performance, music librarianship, arts management and composing, are the main goals of Elmhurst College Department of Music.

The Department of Music also serves the student who desires a program of music study within a more traditional liberal arts curriculum. For the general Elmhurst College student the Department of Music provides musical training through: music history, literature, theory and music appreciation courses and applied music and performance groups are readily available.

Serving Elmhurst College in the areas of recruiting and development is a major concern of the Department of Music. Through sponsorship of clinics, contests, festivals and workshops, the Department of Music provides many situations which bring large numbers of high school students and their parents to campus. Through off-campus appearances by its performing groups the Department of Music also contacts potential students and patrons in their home areas. The Department of Music contributes to the cultural climate and aesthetic experiences of the campus and surrounding community and maintains a strong and vital preparatory Music Department.

Dr. Johnson, Mr. Failon, Dr. Bazik, Mr. Mason, Chairpersons.

PHILOSOPHY

The Department of Philosophy dealing in thought and theory provides courses for a major and a minor in philosophy and also provides courses to fulfill the college's distribution requirements. Recently two new courses were added to the department in the areas of ethical issues in organizational management and ethical issues in medicine and nursing. Majors in philosophy tend to pursue a second major in preparation for graduate school, including advanced work in specific areas such as law and theology. Philosophy majors are currently working in civil service careers, education, and fields related to the social sciences.

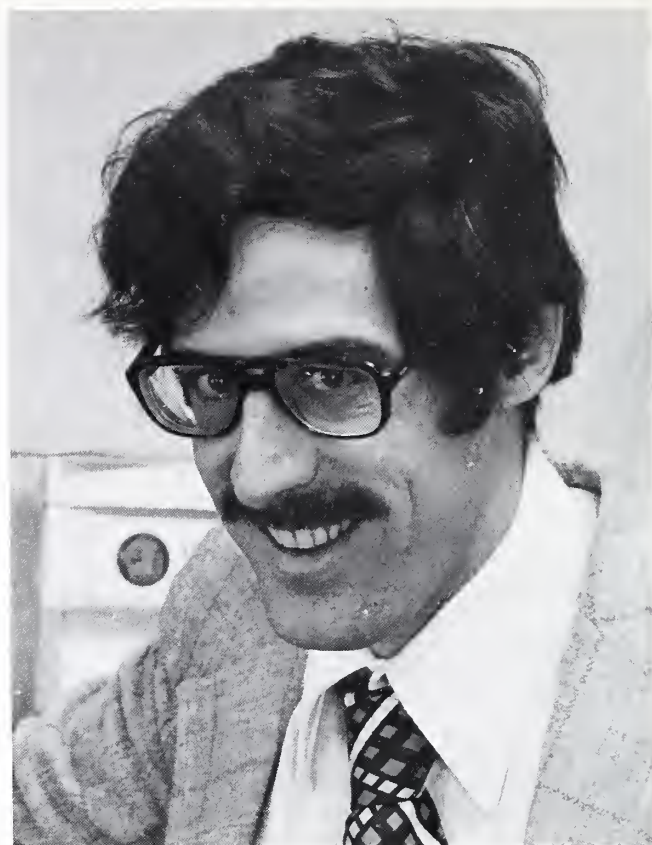

PHYSICS

Elmhurst College Department of Physics has established a rigid, complimentary course offering schedule for physics majors; but the department also offers majors in 3-2 Engineering and cooperates with the Department of Education for certification of students to teach physics on the secondary level.

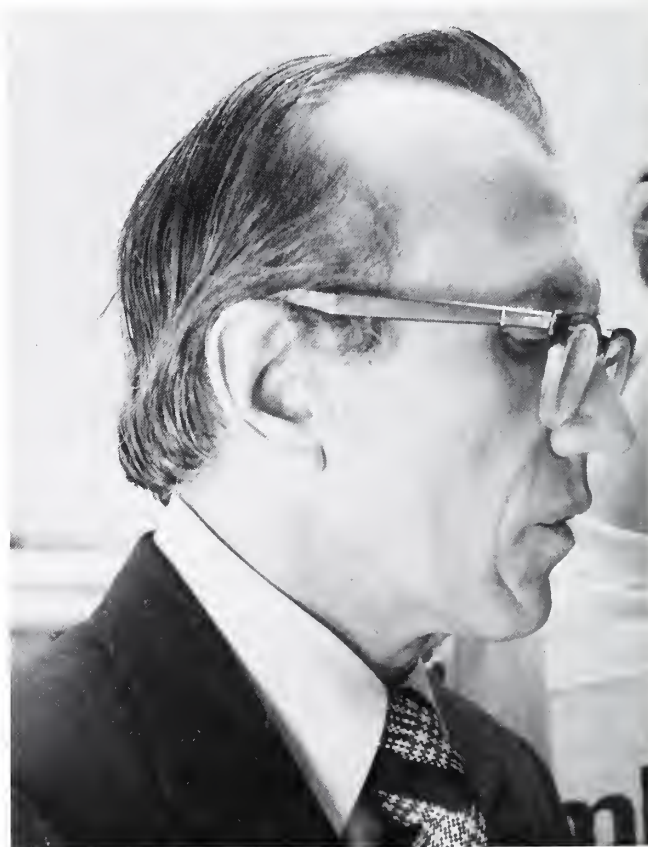

All physics majors complete at least four credit hours of independent study during one of their last three semesters. This period is intended to give the student a chance to draw together the material they have been studying and bring it to bear on a particular project. During this time, by working closely with one of the faculty members on a project, students learn how to focus ideas toward a single goal, and at the same time develop skills necessary for more independent work after graduation. During their senior year, the department works closely with the students to help them find employment after graduation or to choose a graduate school.

Dr. Sawyer and Dr. Swallow, Do you really understand that whatcha-ma-callit?

Dr. Gross, are you eagerly awaiting those essay papers?

Dr. Clark deep in thought.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Providing for the physical and recreational needs of all age students at Elmhurst College is one of the goals of the Department of Physical Education. Exciting and interesting activities which offer life-time involvement including ice skating, racquetball, skiing, canoeing, golf and tennis, have much appeal for the men and women—not the least of these is the non-traditional student. A bustling faculty of six persons carefully juggles the gym class program course for seventy-one majoring students and a varsity program of eight sports for men and four sports for the women.

PRE-SCHOOL

The Pre-School Center is a service which provides a stimulating environment for children of Elmhurst College students, faculty and staff while they are involved in College activities. In an informal atmosphere the Pre-School provides an opportunity for children to work, play and share with others. Responsive staff help the children have a happy experience. Having a school of their own, making new friends, the children will learn to accept themselves as individuals, developing independence, a sensitivity toward others and a sense of fair play. For students studying child development, the Pre-School provides an opportunity to interact with children, sharing experiences with them while they are helping to care for them.

PSYCHOLOGY

The versatile Department of Psychology offers much knowledge to the Elmhurst College student in both scholarship and relevance. Psychology—the study of human behavior and experience—is approached by the department in an enthusiastic manner to stimulate the imagination of the student. The Department of Psychology contributes to the program of other departments by offering courses that provide important psychological foundations for understanding human behavior that are relevant to the preparation of teachers, nurses, social workers, speech therapists and other professional and business persons. To provide a flexible and rigorous program for psychology majors the department prepares them for graduate study in the various fields of psychology. The Department has a variety of field experiences and practicum opportunities offering on-site involvement in community mental health and other service organizations, opportunities for independent study and facilities for laboratory research.

NURSING

Elmhurst College baccalaureate nursing program is accredited by the National Accrediting Organization for Nursing Education and prepares graduates to take licensure examination for registered nurses.

Dr. Wilson, Dr. Tracy, Dr. Siegel, Ms. Moore, Dr. Holbrook, chairpersons.

THEOLOGY AND RELIGION

Dr. Limper, Dr. Goetz, Dr. Schmiechen, Dr. Barry.

Rev. McCurdy

Theology is the disciplined study of the faith and life of a religious community. The focus of the Department of Theology and Religion is on probing the relationships between Christian faith and the contemporary world of learning and living. The department also survey's the world's living religions and their involvement in the human struggle for meaning, justice and hope. Included within the department's field is the study of the educational work of the Christian church, and also the development of a viable educational ministry. Theology and Christian Education majors work very closely with the departmental chairperson concerning all areas of their liberal education and future plans.

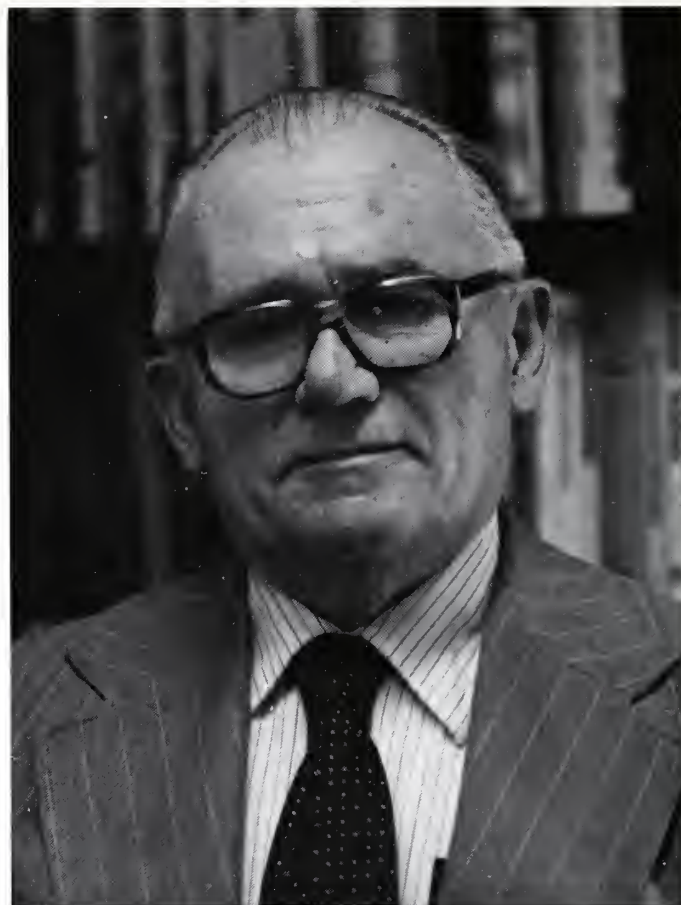

POLITICAL SCIENCE

The Department of Political Science establishes course offerings which are especially designed to meet the needs of students interested in careers in government, the law, teaching and business. Special interim courses in public administration provides direct experience in local government as a supplement to classroom experience. Offering a variety of courses in the various subdisciplines involved is one goal of the Department of Political Science. These include American Government, Comparative Government, Political Theory, Public Administration, International Politics, Political Parties, Constitutional Law and related courses.

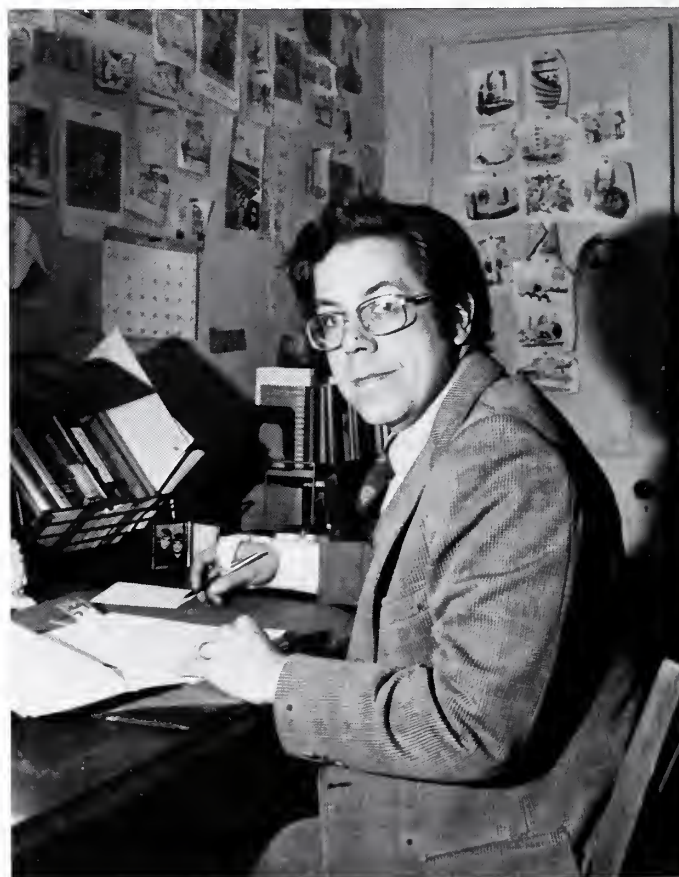

The Department of Political Science is proud to participate in the Washington Semester Plan of the American University, Washington, D.C. The College nominates a number of students to work in Washington on special projects during each spring semester. Elmhurst College students have the opportunity to attend seminars and meet leaders from all branches of government. Recently, urban and international programs have been added to the department of Political Science's curriculum.

URBAN STUDIES

The Urban Studies curriculum is designed to provide the student with an interdisciplinary, career-focused major. An integral part of the program is the use of the Greater Chicagoland Area as a laboratory for study. Field trips, guest speakers and practical experiences are combined with classroom instruction and research projects to provide the student with a complete learning experience. The student is encouraged to develop a major which meets his or her needs and specific interest. Major curriculum of the Department of Urban studies involves course offerings dealing with Metropolitan Government and Politics, Urban History (dealing with the development of cities), Urban Planning, and Examination of the Suburbs and Field Work. Many Urban Studies majors choose to supplement the Urban Studies Courses with courses from departments such as: Geography, Political Science, and Sociology.

S O C I O L O G Y

Offering the Elmhurst College student a wide range of intellectual and career opportunities is the main goal of the Department of Sociology. In addition to the traditional pursuits of graduate study in Sociology, Anthropology and Social Work, the field of Sociology leads itself as preparation for careers in public administration, government, law, social service administration and public relations. All courses in Sociology, except for those in Social Work, fulfill one of the Social Science distributive requirements.

ADMINISTRATION

ADMISSIONS AND FINANCIAL AID

The Office of Admissions and Financial Aid assists prospective students to the College as well as currently enrolled students.

Admissions counselors explain the academic and extracurricular programs available at the College to prospective freshman and transfer students to the Day Session and to prospective Evening Session students.

The Admissions staff visits high schools, churches, College Day and Night programs and College Fairs hoping to meet and talk with prospective students and their parents about Elmhurst College.

The Financial Aid Office coordinates the financial aid program for new and currently enrolled students. The Office also supervises the College Work Study Program and The Emergency Loan Fund for Elmhurst College students.

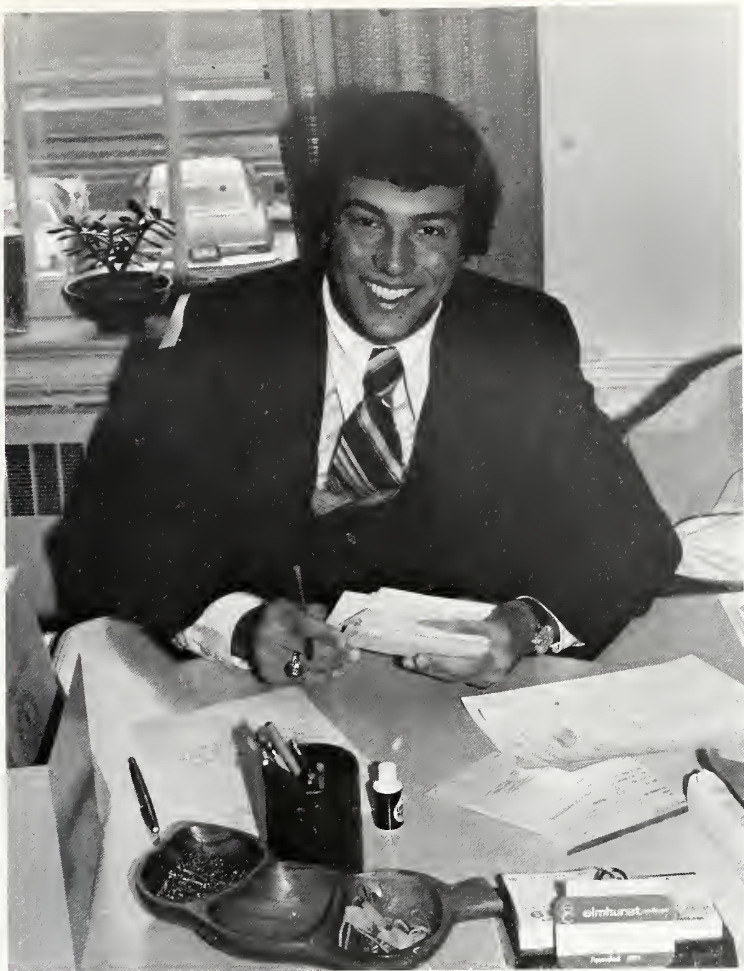

The Admissions Office also sponsors the Student Host program. This program's success depends on the support of currently enrolled students who give tours and host overnights for prospective students.

The Pre-School Center, also supervised by the Admissions Office, offers child care services to the Elmhurst College community.

INTERIM, ADVISING AND SCHEDULING

Mrs. Maisey L. Lake is Assistant to the Dean of the College. Maisey is a guiding light for students and faculty staff members aiding in advising, interim and scheduling.

CHAPLAIN

Rev. McCurdy, Chaplain of Elmhurst College is much more than just the coordinator of Worship Life on campus. Counseling is a major part of Rev. McCurdy's services to the College; he counsels a group for women concerns, meets periodically with the nurses group, counsels the Al-Anon (a club for family members and friends of alcoholics), meets in conferences with the Elmhurst Hospital Chaplain regularly, and is the faculty co-chairperson of the Religious Life Committee. Teaching on theology day class per semester, Rev. McCurdy comments, "I like teaching; the class is very responsive." Rev. McCurdy is the coordinator and sometimes leader of the weekly Tuesday morning Worship Service and once a month evening Worship Service at the campus. Rev. McCurdy notices less people are interested in religion but states, "It is because of a change in the character of the campus." He hopes "people could in general get together as people, and become less fragmented. Too many people now belong to small groups." Rev. McCurdy "likes being here at Elmhurst College, but hopes one thing for the campus: to work more toward a community of people which share common values, at least a willingness to discuss values." Father Leonardo Mateo, Roman Catholic Chaplain, has served part-time at Elmhurst College for two years. Father Mateo takes care of visitations, and holds office hours.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

Dr. Schmiechen, Dean of the College works with all department's of the College, the campus library and deals with decisions on curriculum. Presently, Dr. Schmiechen is trying to develop a program in BA of Liberal Studies for the students of Elmhurst Weekend College. Working in the past year to improve Data Processing relating to the Records Office and Registration has also been a top priority of the Dean. Dr. Schmiechen has begun a period review of each department of the College concerning faculty, facilities, and curriculum program. The Dean also receives information on department's through his two main councils, which are the Faculty Council and the Academic Council.

A recent problem raised by students concerning the teacher evaluation procedures used by the College has come to the Dean's attention. Dr. Schmiechen in response has developed a departmental evaluation system of each individual teacher. Most department's of the campus choose to use a written evaluation form available for student opinion. There is also teacher evaluation through the processes of peer evaluation and a general discussion of methods and content of teaching. Dr. Schmiechen also teaches one theology course a term.

President's Office

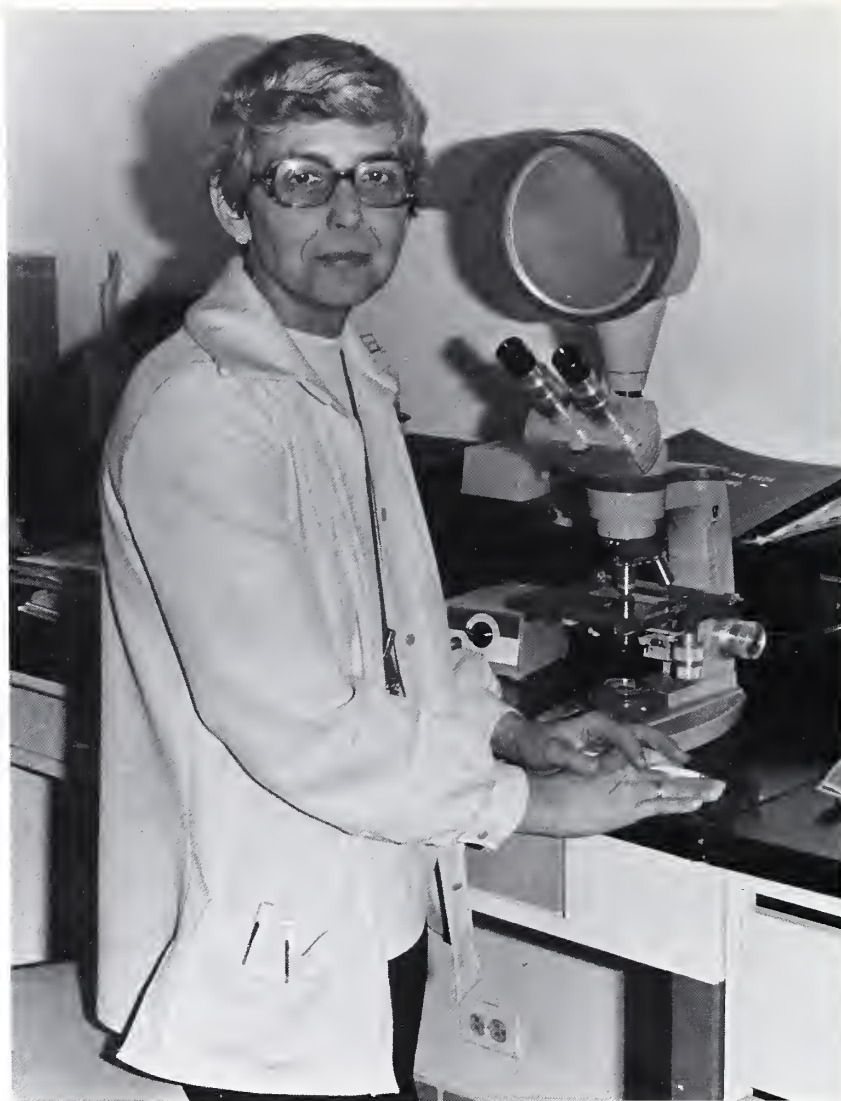

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

President Frick has been working very closely with the Forward Elmhurst Fund Drive and currently has been able to raise 1.8 million dollars. Being involved in the planning of Old Main's renovation, President Frick has earned $800,000 for this project from the Forward Elmhurst Fund Drive. Working closely with the total renovation of Irion Hall for the Department of Music and Speech Pathology, President Frick is more than consumed in work. Through formal and informal communications with students', faculty, and administrative offices, President Frick feels very involved and concerned in the everyday life of Elmhurst College. A once a month general sharing of idea's between students and President Frick is achieved through the Presidents' Breakfast's. President Frick also receives faculty input by means of a one hour coffee haus twice a month. On the President council, President Frick has the opportunity to receive a cross campus selection of idea's; five staff members work directly on the President's Council, they are Dean of Students, Dean of the College, Mr. Pinch, Mr. Wiess, and the Director of Development.

HEALTH SERVICE

Resident or Commuter—Guy or Gal—almost everyone gets sick sometime—gets up tight or cuts a finger or twists an ankle. It's good to know that if anything goes wrong medical help is available. Student Health Service is made up of people—a doctor, two nurses and a secretary—who are dedicated to one objective: helping students.

Mrs. Haik, R.N.

PLACEMENT

Mrs. Hoogesteger

The Placement Office is a resource which offers all students the opportunity to explore their interests, abilities, aptitudes and how they relate to a future career which will be meaningful and satisfying.

The Placement Office assists students with part-time and summer employment, sponsors a Field Experience program which is designed to complement "in class" learning with a brief educational exposure to a job which is related to the student's academic major.

The Placement library contains career information, graduate school catalogs and all graduate school examination applications.

Assistance is given to seniors for obtaining employment after graduation; offers them the opportunity to interview on campus with the many businesses which visit the College; offers seminars on resume' writing and interviewing. Credentials are compiled for use in applying to graduate school, teaching, nursing and all other employment.

It provides a comprehensive career advisory service for all students, as well as alumni who wish to avail themselves of the services.

COUNSELING

The Counseling Service Center is available to the Elmhurst College day students specializing in helping with personal problems, and testing vocational or academic study skills. It is a place that shows interest and concern in the student; there is no charge.

Dr. Barry, Coordinator of the Counselor Services, works with probation cases and also teaches one theology course a term.

CENTER FOR SPECIAL PROGRAMS

For most campus students the Center For Special Programs is a rather ambiguous component of the College. Although some traditional-aged students do enroll in Center credit and non credit offerings, most students comprise the non traditional aged populace—twenty-two years of age and older.

Basically The Center For Special Programs is a unit of the College that is primarily responsible for the development and implementation of programs for adult constituencies. Presently The Center relates to its constituencies—community, business, professionals, and the individual—through the seven following programs: Management Seminar Program, In-House Training Program, Open Enrollement (Community Program), Electrom Microscopy Program, Certificate in Management Program, Extension Credit Program, and Special Projects Program.

During the past year, The Center enrolled approximately 1700 students in its programs. Pioneering efforts have included the Center's two Latino Bilingual programs where hispanic students are earning either an interdisciplinary degree in Psychology and sociology or a degree in general business administration. Both programs are located in Chicago, Illinois. The Center looks forward to its continued programming for adults but at the same time invites campus students to enroll in any one of its many programs.

What can you say to describe a year that has been? Will you remember Casino Night, the all Campus Christmas party, Hearts-field or Second City? Or will you remember Irion Hall, Old Main and the Gym being renovated, or the football team's winning record or the baby found on campus one May morning? Will you even remember such occurrences twenty years from now?

It is my hope that this book will help you to remember.

As I sit in front of my typewriter, thousands of memories dance in my brain. Some are good, some are bad, but they happened just the same. They happened in a year that was very hectic and very busy and probably passed all too quickly. I am hoping that all of you will stop and reflect just a moment on all that happened to each of you individually in the year of 1977-78.

And as you pause I would ask that you spend a moment in silence in remembrance of Dr. Charles Gilbert, a fine human being and teacher, who died last Spring.

I ask each one of you, even if you did not know the man, to please try to make life for yourselves and those you came in contact with a little better, for his sake and the sake of the living. Life is too short to be spent in bickering, arguing, and politicking. I've known too much of that here and it's getting us nowhere. I'll end here with the hope that each and every one of you that reads this book will derive enjoyment out of it.
